

GENOA IS VAST GAME OF CHESS

British Attempt to Isolate France May Fail

Fate of Millions of People Hanging on Moves

Russian Problem is Puzzle to Old Diplomats

Whelming onslaught against today terms for Russia. The game is only between England and France; all thirteens are in it. At the moment of writing the Russian reply has not been delivered, but the British ambassador is not promising of an immediate agreement between the powers and the Soviets.

Both sides seek negotiations and the conference adjourns or evaporates. Russia will be left free to make individual terms with the United States, and with port and numerous private traders. Such a position would suit Russia, but not England.

SOVIET ENCOURAGED

The Soviets are highly encouraged. The British are not. The people here who sit, blinded by illusions regarding the value of concessions, the Soviets believe that the British are not prepared to make any concessions. The Scandinavian countries, the great powers, fear that if Russia is left free to make individual deals and trades resulting in extreme tension between nations.

Feeling in Europe over the last 10 days has been that the Balkans illustrates this danger. It is not a sensible plan to complete the process of breaking off negotiations with Russia and ending the conference.

The plan being considered in the Balkans is for Britain to propose a resolution that all nations at Geneva agree to make no private agreement, and declare that any private agreement already made is believed Germany would agree.

The Russian treaty has been a disaster to the British. It is a disaster to the government because it is popular in Germany, but it has tended to exclude Germany from returning to the League. England hoped, into the family of nations.

WOULD SACRIFICE TREATY

It is believed Germany would sacrifice the Treaty to enter the circle with the others. The road to Geneva may be the road to the attitude of the reparation movement which has reserved the right to consider the peace a violation of the Treaty.

If Belgium makes this declaration, another proposal should come from another quarter. Russia, which should be referred to as a mission which should hold meetings outside the range of the conference. The commission would be composed of political representatives for the great powers.

COMMISSION'S FUNCTIONS

The four functions of this commission are: 1. Protection of the economic necessities of Russia, preferably with her own resources from her own income to repay available loans, adding to her credits which it would be possible to obtain for the reconstruction of Russia. 2. Protection of the possibility of a consortium to control in Russia the attack nature of the exports made from the interior. 3. Protection of the interior from the outside, with the aim of reaching an agreement with the adherent powers providing for no separate agreements with Russia.

If England and Italy object, France and her associates can point to England as a possible way out. A simple-minded statement like "Lloyd George might himself seize for his own the credit for establishing a commission and thus assist the interests of the French are preparing for him."

ASK MODIFICATION OF VOLSTEAD ACT

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Petitions from 2,688 citizens of Mississippi asking modification of the Volstead law to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer, were presented to the House today by Representative Kahn, of Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Stuffed into a package nearly two feet high, they went to Chairman Volstead's committee.

BOOTLEGGERS TO HAVE HARD ROW

ARMORED CAR TO BE USED BY POLICE WORKING FROM OFFICE IN TEXAS

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

EL PASO May 10.—Two armored cars are to be brought here from Washington to combat bootleggers, according to H. R. Stephenson, divisional prohibition director, who took office here today. The number of agents in El Paso will be doubled, fifteen-four working out of the local office. Four lighter machines will be provided, in addition to a patrol of mounted men. Stephenson outlined a program of rigid prohibition enforcement in New Mexico, Arizona and West Texas counties.

RAILWAYS CAN'T CONTRACT WORK

Violates Transportation Act, is Ruling

Decision Has Far-Reaching Effect on Roads

Would Nullify Will of Congress, is Held

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
CHICAGO, May 10.—Contracting shop repair work to outside firms by a railroad company was declared violation of the Transportation Act and contract provisions conflicting with the wages and working rules laid down by the United States Railroad Labor Board was declared illegal in a decision handed down by the board today. The decision was characterized as "one of the most important" it had rendered since its establishment.

The decision, which is the first of its kind, was handed down on disputes over "farming out" railroad labor, was made in the collision between the union shop crafts and the Indiana Bell Railroad. The board declared its pronouncement went "beyond" the Transportation Act. "No more important dispute," the decision added, "has ever come before this board for adjudication."

While the decision applied only to the one road, which last Sep-

NEW TREATMENT FOR POISON OAK

House is Kicked and Cuffed; Unique Method Proves Good Prescription

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—A novel method of treating from poison oak, tried it rough. This is the prescription made public today by Ramie T. Jacks, wealthy sportsman of Monterey and San Francisco, after having had his thoroughbred Kentucky mare Ina treated. When the horse first developed the complaint he had all sorts of lotions and balms applied without effect. Then he was called in a husky crew of horse experts who make a specialty of the tried and rough treatment. The horse was kicked and twisted and kneaded and twisted until everyone was ready to quit. A few days later the poison oak disappeared and today Ina is as sound and speedy as ever.

There are now thirty-six such cases pending before the board, involving seventeen railroads and contractors have intimated that unless the case is settled the spread of contracting shop work there would be a flood of protest.

Each case, however, will be decided on its own merits, the board declared. But the principles of the Indiana Bell decision would be applied to all subsequent cases.

Each case, however, will be decided on its own merits, the board declared. But the principles of the Indiana Bell decision would be applied to all subsequent cases.

Under JURISDICTION

Under today's decision, thousands of former railway employees now working for contractors at wages varying from the labor-board scale, are formally brought under the board's jurisdiction. Rules varying from those laid down by the board are illegal in effect, declared illegal, and the contractors' employees restored to the working rules promulgated by the board.

The board declared in its decision that if a railroad company could remove its employees from the jurisdiction of the Labor Board, it could do so.

At present various railroads have contracted to independent companies the work of six different contractors, employees, maintenance-of-way, laborers, clerks, brakemen and others, declared illegal, and the contractors' employees restored to the working rules promulgated by the board.

Both controversies have, at periodic intervals harassed the public, blocked commerce, stagnated business, destroyed property values and caused great inconvenience and suffering to millions of people. Congress endeavored to provide a method of adjustment for railway labor by the Transportation Act by providing for conference between employers and employees.

The board pointed out that the purpose of the legislation is protection against strikes if employees of a railroad contractor were not placed under the board's jurisdiction, as well as bone-fide railway employees.

REVISE WHEAT INSPECTION

Government Will Help Farmers to Know Product

Reasons for Grading Will be Told in Report

Market News Service Also to be Inaugurated

(BISMARCK, NORTH DAKOTA, May 16.)—Plans for putting into operation revised rules governing licensed grain inspectors, the inauguration of a new grain market news service and a "know your own wheat" campaign among farmers in the spring wheat area were announced today by the United States Department of Agriculture.

DETERMINING FACTORS
The changes in the inspection rules are designed to meet the requirements of the situation in the North, without the disadvantage of establishing new or additional grades. They provide for reporting, in addition to the actual grade, those factors which determine the grade in the spring wheat area.

The grade to which the wheat would otherwise be entitled if these factors were not present may also be stated. This will amount to stating the grade of the clean wheat when considered alone. The purpose of the changes is to give a basis for price quotations by groups within grades so that farmers and local buyers will be better informed as to the exact market value of any sample of wheat.

While the commercial grade of the sample will be indicated, the horsepower and wheat will be handled on these grades, more facts will be shown on the certificates, including the percentage of moisture or foreign material which is responsible for grading the sample below what the wheat alone would indicate.

GROUPS WITHIN GRADES
Through the new regulations, several additional wheat will not be confined simply to price ranges and averages for grades 1, 2 or 3 but will also quote the price of wheat with grades such as "No. 2, 15 per cent moisture, otherwise No. 1," and the like. These price quotations are expected to indicate the true market price of any particular sample of wheat. This market service, which is expected to cover until the fall, will be inaugurated in the big spring wheat market at Minneapolis in close conjunction with the inauguration of the Future Trading Act and the Grain Board Act.

SANTA MONICA

Some Beauty Spots on Santa Monica Bay

After alighting in the Pacific the trip from Cuba in 18 hours.

Santa Monica, nature's beautiful garden, will be the dwelling place for hundreds of thousands of happy people.

Man thought of itself as starting a beautiful garden and going to another beautiful garden. The first it calls the second it calls Paradise. Its habitation is a beautiful garden—many people want to come to California, and that is why, when they go there, they will want to come to Santa Monica to live.

Man planned a masterpiece at Santa Monica. Nothing less would do to mark the end of man's journey around the globe, to home, and make a place for the highest civilization.

Santa Monica was given a great bay on the eastern shore of the peaceful Pacific. It was given a wide sandy beach extending for many miles, and the palisades rise abruptly one hundred and fifty feet above the beach. It was given great mountains coming down to the sea, forming a crescent coast line, and wooded canyons with running streams. It was given shaded playgrounds and sycamores and great oaks. It was given an endless number of glorious plateaus high above the sea and for ideal homesites. And then it was made the front door to the capital of the Pacific basin, the seat of commerce and culture, of inspiration and peace.

Miss E. Hatt, representing England in the Women's Olympic Games at Los Angeles, clearing the bar in the high jump.

Pictures cannot show nor words describe the beauties of this garden. It is full of romance. It sheltered and fed the Indians and looked on at their dances. It has seen the Spaniard come and go. Santa Monica Canyon, where the centuries-old sycamores are, was the first summer resort of Los Angeles, the scene of happy times fifty years ago, and now Rustic Canyon, its northern branch, is the home of a famous club, and many of the leading business men of Los Angeles are building their summer homes there.

This garden is only seventeen miles from Broadway, much of it, including three miles of coast, already within Los Angeles city limits. Great development is now going on. Santa Monica is growing fast. On the north side of Santa Monica Canyon, Pacific Palisades, a new city, Christian community and Chautauqua of the West, is swiftly coming into existence. A great pleasure boat breakwater is planned for yachts, motor boats, sail boats, flying boats and all water sports.

The Greater Santa Monica Club invites you to come to this beautiful garden and make your home. Whether you build a five thousand dollar home or a five hundred thousand dollar home, there is a place for you. It is equally ideal for both. Men and women of wealth may do wonderful things here.

As an investment, think what a home and property in this garden at the front door of the great city of the Pacific will be worth as the days go by, development continues and hundreds of thousands of people continue to pour into the territory from Broadway to Santa Monica.

For information come to Santa Monica or address Greater Santa Monica Club, care of Chamber of Commerce, Santa Monica, California.

EXCHANGE RATES RISE

Sterling Points Way Back Toward Normal; General Trade Quickening

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

NEW YORK, May 10.—In a market where stock exchange prices indicated little but the diminished speculative interest both of professionals and public which has been reflected to reflect any change of view because of today's crop report, foreign exchange was again the real point of interest.

The development of the Southwest means the creation of new wealth for every citizen of Los Angeles. It means the opening of opportunities for the most probable kind of investment.

On the other hand, most of those people who have any considerable sums to invest, turned to the East for their securities.

The West offered securities which in most cases paid a higher rate of interest, but owing to the newness of these western enterprises they did not have sufficient confidence in their stability to invest their money in them.

Recently, and particularly since the last convention, the situation has materially changed.

Western bankers and business men are turning to Western enterprises as the most promising investment opportunities. But even with this improved condition we have not at all lost the spirit of co-operation in the West which has made possible the large corporations of the East, and in many cases the men who are endeavoring to upbuild the West through their enterprises are finding it more difficult to obtain capital.

It is this latter condition which should be remembered, and it can be seen through the proper co-operation.

Even a cursory analysis of the most profitable corporations and development enterprises of the Southwest shows that at the time of their inception they were backed by the united efforts of a group of men representing many interests.

These men got together because they felt that the creation of such enterprises was not only a means of making a legitimate profit, but also because they believed that the country at large would greatly benefit through their creation.

Between these western securities with any in the country will not be unfavorable. By so doing, the chances of wider co-operation will be increased.

It is the natural tendency of men to work together because they feel that the creation of such enterprises was not only a means of making a legitimate profit, but also because they believed that the country at large would greatly benefit through their creation.

SUGAR MARKET

Higher sugar prices in the near future and increased prosperity for the beet sugar interests were predicted yesterday by E. M. Daugherty, Corporation Commissioner.

The suspension, it is stated, will be in force pending an examination by a certified public accountant of the books of the Watson company.

The action of the commissioner in revoking the brokerage license followed, it is said, the receipt of information that bucket-shop practices were being carried on by Watson & Company, the local office of which is at 235 Stock Exchange Building. An auditor from the office of the commission made a demand to see the books of the brokerage firm and was refused, the auditor for a time a former request for an inspection of the firm's accounts by an attaché of the corporation commission office.

The Watson company's operating license was immediately suspended by Commissioner Daugherty. Later in the day, Mr. Watson, president of the corporation commission office in the Pacific Finance Building and agreed to an immediate audit by an attaché of the corporation commission office to be selected from a list furnished by the commissioner.

Mr. Daugherty yesterday issued a statement to the effect that the occurrence which said in part: "The day when brokers can hide behind technicalities and not care to transact business with the public or the proper State authorities know about, is

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

(BY A. F. NIGHTWELL)

NEW YORK, May 16—Public and speculative interest in the financial markets continued to dwindle perceptibly today, although most incidents bearing on quoted values were regarded as encouraging, if not actually constructive. The turnover of $90,000 shares in the stock market was the full extent of activity last March.

News from abroad imparted pronounced strength to international currencies, additional price support being given to the dollar and export oil quotations and the American tonnage of the United States Steel Corporation showed an upward trend.

The increase of slightly over $60,000 tons in bookings by the steel Corporation placed the value of its foreign tonnage at $1,000,000.

For the last ten years the net earnings of the company have averaged more than twice the bond charge.

Application has been made to the Securities Department of Banks to certify these bonds as a legal investment for savings banks.

The price is 94 and interest, 5.40%.

Diversification is absolutely essential for the proper safeguarding of Principal.

KINGDOM of DENMARK
Twenty-Year 6% External Gold Bonds
Dated January 2, 1922 Due January 1, 1942

Interest Payable January 1 and July 1

Principal and interest will be payable in New York City in United States gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness at the National City Bank of New York, the First Avenue and the Bank without deduction for exchange taxes, present or future. Principal and interest will be payable in time of war as in time of peace, irrespective of the war risk premium.

These bonds are the direct obligations of the Government of Denmark, which agrees that if in the future it shall sell, offer for public subscription or in any manner dispose of any bonds, stocks, or other property of the State, or pledge on or of any revenues or assets of the State, the service of this Loan shall be secured equally and ratably with all other obligations of the State.

CREMENET. The Danish Government is one of the oldest and one of the most democratic in Europe. Its finances have been managed so conservatively that the national ranks high among the financial and political stability of the countries of the world. During the twenty years preceding the war Denmark borrowed about as from 1910 to 1912. Five issues listed on the Paris market and from 1912 to 1914, the average yield on these issues to yield 4.5%, and two issues listed in London sold at 4.5% to 4.75% and from 1914 to 1918 to yield 2.5%. The average yield of five Government issues listed in Copenhagen was 4.25% December 1, 1921.

WILHELM ALFRED. The wealth of Denmark, measured both in public and private property, was estimated in 1911 at $2,650,000,000, or more than nine times the present national debt. The capital of the Province of Schleswig-Holstein, a rich farming and dairy country, increased in value during the last seven years have greatly increased both the value of the land and the value of the capital. The value, March 31, 1921, was $785,100,000, or more than twice the capital debt of $350,000,000, and one of the lowest per capita debts in Europe. The total value of the Government's own property valued at $916,115,000. The debt has been incurred only for the construction of revenue-producing property such as harbors, rivers, irrigation works, roads, and harbors, over 45%.

PRICE 99, to yield 6.10%.

MID-STATE CROPS GOOD, IS REPORT

Almonds Not Hurt by Frost; Coast Line in Spring Gurb

BY L. M. MAYNARD
(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT)

PASO ROBLES, May 10.—At the opening of the Paso Robles National Bank 700 people thoroughly enjoyed a Times radio concert. The new bank had a record day, especially when it is considered that the bank was not open for business, paying out money for labor just now and not putting much into the bank.

Well-informed almond men ridicule the idea that the frost has caused any damage to the crop this year. There has been a moderate shortage for a number of years in this circumstance, together with the red spider pest, a backward season and short, broken period of dry weather. The frost would pollinate quickly and set well, but I am assured that there is actually a 10 per cent shortage of almonds this year in the Paso Robles district.

Peaches and peaches bear well. Market gardening conditions are excellent. Alfalfa stands are good, but the wheat looks poor, due to dry north winds. The rain of yesterday has helped to relieve this condition and a good yield is now expected.

The cotton crop is progressing good. However, in the hills east of town and on the east slope of the western hills the growth of cotton was poor, due to the account of dry north winds, and the outlook is for a shortage of dry feed this summer. They both feed and fiber cotton, and only a few of the cattlemen ship to the best-top finishing grounds. As it looks now, the west hill sites will be the best cotton sites in the Paso Robles district this year, but probably not dangerously so.

On the whole, the Paso Robles territory is in a better position than the last year. The chief drawback is that the development work is new. As a result the profits that accrued from the sale of the new houses, prices were put back into improvements and extension work. Then when the break in prices came it was a great weight to the bank account and with some indebtedness so that while the territory generally is more in debt than the rest of the state, the new business is well sustained by a forward-looking production capacity that not over two years of good weather will wipe out.

I was interested particularly in one phase of the growers' problems in this section, and that was the question of the frost damage. I was little else than go to work growing. I saw one acreage that contained 4,000 almond trees that had been planted this spring, and all but three of the trees were growing splendidly.

The situation in the Almondino district was not quite from the situation surrounding the other fruit districts of California. The percentage of damage by frost to the fruit in the Almondino section I reported the other day from the San Joaquin section.

On the whole, I never did see the Almondino section in Los Angeles or San Francisco so beautiful as it is now, and in another month or six weeks the motorist will find it one of the most attractive sections of the coast. Nasturtiums and sweet peas of all colors will be in production this year. Now the wild dandelions, mixed with California poppies, together with the daisy and buttercup, add a splendor to the beauty of the coast that had not been seen equalled.

"Tennis Made Her a Well and Happy Woman and I'll Never Come to Praise It," Declares S. F. Randolph.

"When my friends tell me what caused the great change in me, I just say 'Tennis' and they seem to understand," said Mrs. Gertrude Randolph, 2000 1/2 11th St., San Francisco, Cal.

"Nobody knows what I suffered during the last nine years with nervousness and hysteria. About once a week I would have those awful spasms and I just lay down in bed and tried to sleep, and my knees hurt so bad I could hardly bend them. I also had splitting headaches and suffered so from indigestion and loss of appetite I wasted away until I weighed a hundred and five pounds."

"But Tennis made me a well and happy woman and today I weigh one hundred and thirty pounds. When I would place a bottle of Tennis on the market I would say to the person in San Francisco for I believe it would make them well. Tennis is sold by all good drugstores. [Advertisement.]

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

BY DOROTHY DIX

According to the Japanese legend, the Sun Goddess became obsessed with her brother and in high judgment retreated into a cave, thereby plunging the world in utter darkness. In desperation the other gods and goddesses tried in vain to break her forth into the sun, more inventive than the others devised a mirror which he hung on a hook in front of the Sun Goddess made her come forth to look at the strange object, and when she beheld it in her own face she was so surprised with what she saw that she started to gaze upon it and never went back to her cave again. Thus to the magic of the mirror do we owe the happy fact that the light of day never fails us.

The curiosity of the Sun Goddess made her prove to them by observing that no woman ever passes a mirror without carrying a comb in her pocket, and that ninety-nine women out of a hundred carry a portable looking-glass with them, which draw out to them a mirror so that they may refresh themselves with a reflection of their own countenances.

The Japanese maids for masters have ever been considered a great mystery, and mother to know that their masters have provided against their wants in every way.

But the Japanese are not the only ones who have a great respect for mirrors.

The Chinese have a great respect for mirrors.

People and Their Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

BY DOROTHY DIX

According to the Japanese legend, the Sun Goddess became offended with her brother and high dudgeon retreated into a cave, thereby plunging the world in utter darkness. In despair the other gods and goddesses tried in vain to lure her forth until one, more inventive than the others, devised a mirror which hung on a bush in front of the cave.

The curious object caused the Goddess to look at the strange object, and when she beheld it in her own face she was so captivated with what she saw that she stayed to gaze upon it and never went back to her cave again. Thus to the magic of the mirror do we owe the happy fact that the light of day never fails.

Also the Sun Goddess set a precedent which we still follow in our own country when we are doing Thomas and Thomas proved to them by observing that no woman ever passes a mirror without stopping to look in it to see that she looks well. This is the origin of a hundred carry a portable looking-glass around with them, which they draw out from time to time to refresh themselves with a reflection of their own loveliness.

This feminine desire for mirrors, however, is considered a kind of weakness of women. Astrologists have said that it is that, Morals have prescribed that women do not look in mirrors too much, since they look in them, too little. What a girl should do is to have a few and, if I were running a girl's school I should have it function in a hall of mirrors where the students could not see each other.

Surly, millions of domestic martyrs would be set free if their husbands would only let them have a little something else but the lack of the vagaries of modern fads and fashions in which women indulge.

Women can account for some of the vagaries of modern fads and fashions in which women indulge. The woman who has given up her husband and children to the Ku Klux Klan, for instance, is not the only woman who has turned into a kind of a prostitute.

And, oh, if we could only have some mental mirrors, in which we could see the true form of our fallen creatures who are so far from the opening of the jail door. And we could see the woman who is based by the husband or wife whom she or he has turned into a kind of a prostitute.

And, oh, if we could only have some mental mirrors, in which we could see the woman who is based by the husband or wife whom she or he has turned into a kind of a prostitute.

The man who brags about how much money he has made; the wife who brags about how much she has weighed, over weight, though she would probably rather a dozen of fun old hen he is trying to look out in chicken houses, for instance, if a woman could get a good square back view of her feet and ankles and really the horrid gaiture often is in the form of a man's feet, which is why the Japanese myth represent the mirror as bringing as the light of day.

Not without reason does the old Japanese myth represent the mirror as bringing as the light of day.

SLOW BUT SURE
Germany is ready to meet her bill for reparations if the United States and England will lend her the money without interest. That ought to be a very simple matter to arrange.

THE SOUTHERN NEIGHBOR
The relations between American interests and the Mexican government are closer and better than at any time for more than ten years. We have the word of Mr. Dooley for it and he has a habit of knowing. He is also a liberal section of the American interests. The Mexican government is in position to make good any of its guarantees.

HAS NEW FRIENDS
Gen. French, Harding, does not think much of the direct primaries system. He believes that the convention plan offers the prospect of better candidates and is much less expensive for all concerned. If the convention gives better candidates for less money, why do any voters hang out in favor of the primary? Why not make it unanimous?

EFFICIENCY IN OPERA
El Grand opera has been put on a new basis in Chicago—with Mary Garden on the outside. Under the new regime there is a guaranteed fund of $100,000 a year for five years and that has been made up from a short time ago subscriber. It is intended to put Gen. Charles G. Dawes in command of the business end and to try and run the opera on an efficiency basis—if the thing is possible. Mary Garden was a popular Impresario and a good speaker, but there was always the certainty of a deficit. With the nation's budget master in command there is a chance to discuss whether a deficit is always an essential of an opera season.

THINGS NEW AND OLD
The Washington correspondents are trying to dig up a Cabinet position for Senator New. The old statesman will be sent out of office on the 4th of April. March. He has lived in Washington for a number of years and is on terms of intimate personal friendship with the President. He is likewise one of the Harding political advisers. The President would heartily wish to have Senator New at his right hand and his resignation could be used to good advantage in the Cabinet. But where? There is no immediate prospect of a vacancy. Secretary Mellon is perfectly willing to retire, but it is not believed that Senator New would graciously fit that deck. It is the almost unanimous belief of the correspondents that Senator New will remain at the capital in an official capacity after the expiration of his present term. New is the old friend of the administration.

PREDICTION: JUSTICE
S. New York is preparing to enlarge Sing Sing and give a prompt and vigorous reception to burglars, bandits and criminals of violence. Under a revised dispensation of justice a highwayman captured in the commission of a crime is taken by his captor directly before the grand jury and his trial follows immediately. If the evidence is ample a prisoner can be in the penthouse within six hours of the commission of a crime. It is easy to carry out the mandate of justice within the span of a day. This is rather revolutionary, but is found to be little practical difficulty. And except the legal technicalities have very nearly caught up with criminals. Under the old dispensation it took at least ten days to get a case before the grand jury and after that postponements were easy. Now speed is the one thing that counts and if there is delay at any point there must be strong reasons given. Of course, crimes of violence are given the preference in this arrangement. The city wants to get rid of its murderers, burglars and highwaymen first. When it has caught up with them it will try and clean up on its nevers and embassies—if Tammany will let it. But if New York can speed up the mills it justice any come quickly out. It should be tried.

LOOKING BACKWARD
L. It is now complained that sufficient funds are not available to carry on certain investigations of government extravagance during the war. Why not take it for granted and go on with the business before the peace? Why the average man in the street idea of spending money to find out how money was spent is rather a tiresome and wasteful proposition. It is about as enjoyable as using the bath water to gargle one's throat. Everybody knows that money was wasted during the war. Uncle Sam admits it himself. Investigating will not bring it back. The inquiries are not necessary or important for political purposes. The prosecution should rest on the trial with the evidence already at hand. The trouble is that Congress has formed the investigation habit. It has become the slave of quid.

Hardly a day passes without a demand or suggestion for an inquiry of some kind and the business of the public seems mainly to consist of a summing up of all sorts of citizens from all sections of the country to come to Washington to give evidence or information on matters of which the statesmen should already be well informed. Much of this is freely described as "bunk" and most of it is represented by waste. The idea of continuing this program indefinitely is rather terrifying to the average taxpayer. It is like hunting dead birds with a squirrel.

SOME ONE BLUNDERED
Cables from Geneva and from the various European capitals agree that the reaction to the Russo-German treaty has served to leave Germany in a state of isolation, that she is now regarded with suspicion, not only in the Allied states, but among the neutrals as well.

Lloyd George went to Geneva in a conciliatory frame of mind toward both Russia and Germany. He was supported in this policy by the neutral nations represented. There were indications of a break between Great Britain and France. The treaty of alliance between the two countries had not been signed and Lloyd George was quoted as saying on the eve of the conference, "The alliance with France is ended;" although he denied later that he had used these words.

It was evident to Germany's interest to separate the Allies, to widen the breach between France and Anglo-Saxons. But the result of the Russo-German treaty has been to re-establish unity between England and France. Notwithstanding certain alarmist dispatches from Geneva, they have been drawn closer together since Germany broke faith by making the separate treaty with Russia than at any other time since the Treaty of Versailles was signed.

One finds unmistakable evidence of this in the comments of the British and French press. It is there frankly admitted that Europe has been again divided into two camps and that seed has been sown which, if permitted to ripen to a harvest, will cause another world war.

Community of interest and their mutual safety are the impelling influences for the Russo-British alliance. The British press now demands an early peace, and such peace, regardless of the sacrifices that may be entailed. The following editorial comment from the London Morning Post indicates the British attitude:

There are probably secret clauses in the Russo-German treaty, but there is certainly behind it a menace which may one day spring into the open and launch the world into war. England and France must come together again as friends join hands in the hour of danger. There is no room for a third party. The alliance and quarrels in these last few years between these two allies are unfair alike to those who sleep on the battlefield and to the generation that has a right to be spared the horrors of another slaughter.

This crisis can easily be met. If the Allies stand firm and place before the world the terms of the Russo-German Treaty of Geneva, but the Treaty of Versailles. And when the storm is over we trust there will be no more conferences. If Mr. Lloyd George cannot do without them, then the country will have to do without Mr. Lloyd George.

In the first hours of exultation the German press proclaims that the negotiation of the Russo-German treaty would force Britain and France to make similar treaties with Russia, for their self-preservation. The Germans expected to see the Allies before so formidable an alliance. But in place of coveting or quarreling among themselves the Allied nations seem again a unified group.

Building expansion in this city is only limited by supplies of material available. The city is a great industrial center and there is almost limitless demand for good structures. Corps are excellent and even the deferred-payment plan upon which the climate is operating this spring has failed to dull the general optimism. But let us have some distribution center for a vast southern empire and our growth has been proportional with the development of this empire.

After the display of perfidy given by the German government at Geneva there will be no more trusting to the Teutons to keep their promises. All discussion of aiding Germany to raise a loan to relieve her, but it is not believed that Senator New would graciously fit that deck. It is the almost unanimous belief of the correspondents that Senator New will remain at the capital in an official capacity after the expiration of his present term. New is the old friend of the administration.

From this distance it is apparent that someone high in authority in the German government blundered when that Russo-German treaty was negotiated. It looks like a case of gross stupidity in Chancellor Wirth and Dr. Rathenau. For if the Bolsheviks were so minded, the treaty could have been signed after the Geneva conference. It is not apparent how Russia or Germany could have lost anything by waiting until they saw what they could get out of the Geneva conference. By their precipitate action they turned both the Allies and the neutrals against them. They are faced an unfriendly group comprising principally all the other countries of Europe; and the treasures chest of all nations are empty.

The effect of the Russo-German alliance was to awaken not the fear of the Allies, but their ire. Both countries are left in a state of unspeakable isolation. Wirth and Rathenau probably imagine that in making this pact with the Bolsheviks they are following out the Bismarckian policy of "Drang nach osten"—Press to the East—but in a different Europe from that which Bismarck knew.

INTERESTING BUSINESS THOUGHTS
Los Angeles is the workshop of the Pacific. Trade winds are set in this direction. All we need to insure the permanence of their favoring trend is a bit of self-trimming and ship dredging. Beginning in July a dredging operation will be established between Los Angeles Harbor and Honolulu, and business which has heretofore gone to San Francisco because there was no place else for it to go will be open to local competition. We are going down to the sea in ships which sail far fashion from this port to carry our goods and our propaganda to the uttermost corners of the earth. We are coming into our own.

Four hundred and thirty years ago a far-sighted Italian turned an inquiring eye to the west and made a dream come true. He brought to a land inhabited by savages the elevating influence of civilization. Today it is up to this country to return the compliment and to rediscover the Old World now quarreling around the council tables of Geneva whence sailed the intrepid Christopher Columbus and his contemporaries thought in terms of countries. The thought of today is in continental terms brought about not only by war, but more particularly by the victories of peace. The world owes the United States at least $15,000,000,000, to recover which we must almost literally finance the universal corporation.

There is a mighty big work waiting to be done at both home and abroad: in Los Angeles, in New York, in the capitals of Europe. There is no room left for provincialism, and the man who thinks the straightest in the language of Broadway and Seventh street will go farther and travel faster than he who confuses his thoughts and his eye to Calabria.

There has been during the past month a substantial progress in the return of general business to normal activity. Los Angeles has not suffered from business depression as the rest of the country has suffered, but because she has not is no excuse for carelessness in watching her step. That very fact imposes responsibilities which other sections do not have to meet. A banker points out that the main reason for our prosperity lies in the fact that we have become the distributing center for a vast southern empire and that our growth has been proportional with the development of this empire.

Building expansion in this city is only limited by supplies of material available. The city is a great industrial center and there is almost limitless demand for good structures. Corps are excellent and even the deferred-payment plan upon which the climate is operating this spring has failed to dull the general optimism. But let us have some distribution center for a vast southern empire and our growth has been proportional with the development of this empire.

Let our feet be firmly planted. Roots are of no lasting benefit. It's the house built upon a rock which endures. The auto who drives his car at a sixty-mile-an-hour speed will go faster than he is traveling now than the thirty-mile-an-hour man, but he also stops more abruptly and looks far messier when it is all over.

Prosperity has been defined as "that state of affairs in which the people of a city or nation are generally making progress toward the accomplishment of desirable ends, conditions of commercial and industrial health." It is easier to keep healthy than it is to rely upon economic doctors to get us well. There is plenty of substance. The onion doesn't worry for fear there will not be enough earth for it to take root in or enough air for it to grow in. It just attends to the business of growing and developing into a perfect onion and KNOWS that all things shall be added unto it.

WE AIM TO PLEASE

Well, let them come. Let them come singly or let them come collectively. We care not. We defy them all. We not only defend, but we absorb and assimilate them. Of course, people are bound to talk about the climate. They will talk about the weather and their neighbors when they are dumb before the beauty of holiness. They will make remarks about the sunlight and the moonshine when they are silent to the enlarging impulses of humanity. It is some time to have a climate that is really worth talking about. It may be capricious, but there is more of the liberal and more of the estimable than can be met with elsewhere in the world. And four months of January and four months of September they would swear it was paradise. We have that and more. Maybe we do have a tang of February and a taste of March. Why not? It wouldn't do to be all warmth and sunshine. We don't want to standardize our climate. It is the heat of nature and the sun should be as soothing as olive oil marmalade. Anyhow, we are negotiating for the output of Mauna Loa and placing it on tap in the beauty shops and boutiques of America. Don't you want to be handled?

Whittier and Colton Meet on Saturday

Opening rounds in the play-off for the Southern California prep baseball title will get under way this week with games sprinkled all over the south, and the holder of the championship for 1922 will be definitely decided by the end of the month. Last season San Diego's diamond experts clamped down the honors, after which they proceeded to win the national title, and will be strong contenders this year.

On Friday afternoon Franklin High's athletes, holders of the Central League title, will meet Ventura at Patterson Field, Occidental College, in a first-round battle. And while the fact that Ventura cleaned up the Ventura Valley League title is known to all our northern neighbors, but with Teachous on the mound for Franklin, the clash won't be a tough opposition.

FANCY REAVERES
Saturday afternoon Whittier and Colton are scheduled to meet at Whittier, with a pair of pitchers in a pair of the city's pitchers in the vicinity in Hans and Kimmell. Hans' teasing delivery was an important factor in bringing DEL MONTE, May 10.—A. D. Patterson of Sacramento had low gross score of $6 in the qualifying round of the California amateur golf tournament here today. Harry Mohr of Sacramento took low net with a card of 142-85-67. Players making the first flight were Gentry Hillman, San Francisco; L. R. Morris, Los Angeles, and W. J. Ellert, Fresno.

The Orange County League laurels to Whittier. He fanned twenty batters in the deciding game of the schedule when the Cardinals losing 8 to 1. Pfeifer trimmed Patterson. Kimmell was from the west, and Colton mopped up all opposition in the C League, and is certain to keep the title this year.

Colton's Hollywood outfit will not appear until next Tuesday, when the Foothillers take on the Foothills. The former claimed Greenback's last last Saturday in the first game of the play-series, while the Citrus and Foothills won't be able to get schedules until tomorrow.

Arthur Bedenoch of Ingleside High, who is holding the C.I.L. play-off, while it appears that all teams eligible to compete for the title must communicate with him the week or forth their chances for the championship.

RETAINTS TITLE
JUARIS (Men), May 10.—Lee Anderson of California, world's negro lightweight champion, successfully defended his championship last night by knocking out Tiger Flowers, Atlanta, Georgia, middleweight, in the seventh round of a scheduled fifteen-round bout.

Braves Have Easy Time Defeating Cincy

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]
NEW YORK, May 10.—Sensational fielding of the Giants saved Art Neft's defeat here today, in which Pfeifer trimmed Patterson. Kimmell was from the west, and Colton mopped up all opposition in the C League, and is certain to keep the title this year.

Colton's Hollywood outfit will not appear until next Tuesday, when the Foothillers take on the Foothills. The former claimed Greenback's last last Saturday in the first game of the play-series, while the Citrus and Foothills won't be able to get schedules until tomorrow.

Arthur Bedenoch of Ingleside High, who is holding the C.I.L. play-off, while it appears that all teams eligible to compete for the title must communicate with him the week or forth their chances for the championship.

RETAINTS TITLE

CROWDS MOB DEMPSEY

Cheering Throng Swamps Champion at Brighton; Jack Addresses Admirers From Window

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
LONDON, May 10.—Jack Dempsey visited Brighton this morning as the guest of Harry Preston, a hotel owner and an old amateur lightweight. The champion was accorded a triumphal reception everywhere. The passengers at Victoria station crowded around the train as it was leaving to cheer Jack. At Brighton cheering crowds mobbed him at the station. After a drive along the water front, the champion, accompanied by his manager, Jack Kearns, and Joe Benjamin, a San Francisco lightweight, was the guest of honor at a luncheon at the Albion Hotel.

There were about twenty guests, including Sir Joseph Blaikie, Brighton's chief magistrate; Mr. Griffin, the chief constable; Obie Johnson, former amateur heavyweight champion of Great Britain and one of England's greatest heroes; Timi Alberto, a New York boxer, who was a lightweight champion in the English amateur class; a South African, who lost both hands in the great war; aldermen and other local celebrities.

DEMSEY SPEAKS
During the luncheon and celebration the crowd was so intense that Jack had to speak from a window. The great reception. Yet some have been nice to me, the same as on the continent. The English are great sportsmen, especially boxers.

Mr. Beanie, who referred the J. L. Sullivan—Charley Mitchell and Eddie—J. J. Sullivan, to me, said:

"I think the English is the most powerful built man for a heavyweight. His reach would have been too far for Sullivan. He is a great boxer and a clean fighter, whose methods might well be copied in this country."

Jack replied to the toast, said: "I am glad to visit Europe. I have had a wonderful experience and I am learning a great deal. Beanie said: "This is like a dream to me. It seems too good to wake up."

PASADENA AIDS FLORAL FIESTA

Crown City Enters Float in Parade at Monrovia

Still Agitating Alley and Church Question

Director Sends Resignation to City Board

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) PASADENA, May 10.—The Tournament of Roses Association is planning to enter a particularly beautiful float in the annual Fiesta Floral Parade at Monrovia on Saturday, May 20, and it is expected that two or three other local organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce and the Elks, also will have entries.

Pasadena looks with friendly eyes upon all pretentious entertainment events, such as the float, and the idea is to be paid in Monrovia the attention of the same day and is anxious to cooperate in making them a success, on the theory that they are a good place to have a diversion for residents and visitors alike, a fine thing for Southern California as a whole.

Two hundred Pasadena people will witness the floral parade and will attend the rodeo in the afternoon, also the barbecue luncheon in the street dance in the evening.

REOPEN ALLEY MATTER

The City Board of Directors may reopen the First Methodist Church alley question, which has been agitating many citizens in recent weeks since the organization granted a petition of Ernest H. Lockwood and other property owners to have an avenue from Colorado to Madison avenues near Colorado street that would bisect the site of the projected new $500,000 Methodist church.

Resolutions from the New Century Club, a social organization, on the alley question along the lines of compromise suggested by the Methodist were filed with the City Board of Directors today.

CITY DIRECTOR RESIGNS

Joseph Caunt, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles and manager of its Glendale branch, has tendered his resignation as a member of the City Board of Directors. The resignation was accepted, with regret, by the board.

Mr. Caunt was elected a member of the municipal directorate last year upon the inauguration of the new city manager, the Municipal Board of Directors system.

The vacancy will be filled by the election of a Director to fill the unexpired term by the other members.

SYRUP PEPSIN IN OLD AGE

Much used by elderly people for constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc.

MANY men and women, as they grow older, suffer constantly from little fits. The cause is the poison produced by chronic constipation, resulting in headaches, depression, bloating, sour stomach and breath, etc. A single bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Peppin will prove to you that you can so regulate your diet that constipation will occur promptly and easily. It is safer and better for you than salts, minerals, calomel, coal tar and such drastic purgatives.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free
For every customer at a drug store or a hardware store, a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of our Syrup Peppin is given free. Write to Dr. W. C. Caldwell, 212 Washington St., Mendota, Ill. Write now and get a cent a dose.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Peppin has been on the market 30 years of the board. No successor has been named.

MUST MUZZLE DOGS

As a precaution against the menace of mad dogs, which is causing many deaths, the City Board of Directors today adopted an ordinance requiring that dogs be muzzled. The ordinance will become effective on its official publication.

Recently, it is reported, citizens have been bitten by dogs suspected of suffering from rabies.

Enactment of the muzzling ordinance by the City Directors was the result of a petition of Dr. F. W. Hodgen, City Health Officer, who has been in conference with authorities of the State Board of Health.

Mr. D. R. G. W. "Beagle" Line of the board. No successor has been named.

ON LONG JOURNEY

South African Children Come to Love with California Cards

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

SANTA MONICA, May 10.—"Jack, the Third" a shaggy fox terrier, is disconsolate in Cape Town over the loss of his little master and mistress. When Barbara, Clifford and Nancy Bird started from Cape Town, South Africa, to their sister, Dorothy, in Santa Monica they were forced to leave the beloved playmates behind as the port laws of Liverpool prohibits the passing through of pets.

The children, who are 11, 11 and 9 years of age respectively, are now in the Panama Canal Zone on the last lap of their long journey, uneventful. They are in charge of a nurse in charge of the purse to see that they arrived safely at the home of their uncle, Wyndham Bird, who is known with the name of "Uncle Jack" on Third Street, Santa Monica. On the death of their mother, Mr. Bird, Mrs. Bird's doctor, said that the climate of Liverpool, where they have other relatives was too rigorous for the youngsters, and invited them to come to Southern California.

As the South Africa port is filled with the same difficulties as the United States, the children and their guardian applies for their admittance. Mayor Cryer, their shorthorn and Congregational Church, has wired to the State Department for the children now.

They will arrive in Los Angeles next Friday.

Men Arrived in Tulare County Opened Big Store

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PORTERVILLE, May 10.—John and Frank Davis, accused of conducting a mail-order supply store, were arrested yesterday morning when they were trying to break into the garage of W. H. Wurtz, who has been a mail-order business for 14 years.

With the man was secured four-ton barrels of mash, which was to be used in the manufacture of moonshine.

The police have a good description of the two men who attempted to enter the garage and believe the same pair did the other job.

LEGHORNS WIN

White Hens Beat Red Ones in Big Egg-laying Contest

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

POMONA, May 9.—The white leghorns came back into their own again in April at the Southern California farm bureau egg laying contest according to Charles G. Burgess, resident manager.

George C. England's pen led with 264 red ones for the month.

Two white leghorns and two Rhode Island reds tied for first place. Mr. Gillies' pen third with 250 eggs. The total average was 78.77 per pen, which was a little higher than that for the previous month. The birds consumed on average 1.15 pounds of grain, 3.42 pounds of mash and 2.35 pounds of green feed.

ROBBERIES KEEP

POLICE ON JUMP

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

POMONA, May 10.—Two robbers kept the local police busy for several hours last night when Wurtz's garage was broken into and the filling station of W. H. Wurtz at Fifth and Guyer avenues was also entered.

The night watchman at the garage heard two men outside and found them attempting to force open the door. When they saw him they made a quick getaway. The filling station was entered and about $50 in cash and gasoline coupons stolen.

The police have a good description of the two men who attempted to enter the garage and believe the same pair did the other job.

"We have all this fuss over one or two men who break into garages, but we try to buy a flock of them," asked Councilman Sparks.

The most recent dispute over the proposed dog-muzzling ordinance was finally ended yesterday when the Council by a vote of 8 to 2 voted to add two more sections for $750 a year to be collected to be made on an old truck turned in. Councilman Sparks and Musket voted against the Morland proposal.

DOCTOR MUST ANSWER

Held on Charge of Buying Stolen Liberty Bond

Dr. W. Raymond MacDowell, 1777 West Jefferson street, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long yesterday on the charge of buying a $500 Liberty Bond, which he knew to be stolen from the People of Los Angeles. He was released on a $2500 bond for hearing the 19th instant. In question was whether he had sold the bond to Dr. H. M. Mizner, a subcontractor, who pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzlement before U. S. District Judge Trippett, who turned over to Murdock to Jack Montevore, who is a doctor at Park Hospital.

It is charged by Federal authorities that Montevore sold the bond to the accused for $50, and that both he and Murdock profited.

Dr. MacDowell has confessed since his arrest that he knew the bond was stolen, according to the statement of local Federal officials.

CULBERSON DENIES ROBERTSON CHARGE

CLAIM THAT ENGLISHMAN WAS KIDNAPPED SILLY, SAYS SENATOR

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Senator Culverton of Texas broke his long silence today regarding charges brought by Alexander E. Robertson, young British war veteran, who had sought to wed the Senator's daughter, that detective had attempted to kidnap him.

The Senator, upon the return of Chester W. Juras, his secretary, from New York, authorized the secretary to make the following statement:

"The claims of Alexander E. Robertson that there was any attempt to kidnap him, or to interfere with his freedom in any manner, whatever, are utterly silly, ridiculous and untrue."

British Embassy officials today, in an interview, agreed with young Robertson, declared action of the Embassy on Robertson's charge of kidnapping was based on a misapprehension of the court procedure which Robertson has instituted.

Secretary Craig of the Embassy said that there would be no formal statement regarding the affair issued at this time.

"The entire case will form the basis of a new proceeding," Mr. Craig said. "It will center about the case at Bloomfield, N. J. Mr. Robertson has made no statement to anyone outside the Embassy."

It was recalled that two so-called ladder and keyhole witnesses for Mrs. Stillman testified that they saw Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais together. Mrs. Stillman said Adams' statements were true, but that she had been uncertain through which he could have peeked. She added that Adams and Beauvais slept together in the kitchen at night when she occupied the only bedroom in the house.

Nothing that could be considered as an attempt to kidnap her in the name of Christmas, 1917, to February, 1918, when she spent much time in Canada, Mrs. Stillman told the referee.

It was recalled that two so-called ladder and keyhole witnesses for Mrs. Stillman testified that they saw Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais in the same room during this visit to the Stillman House. They said Mrs. Stillman spent three days at the house, not longer than three days, and that the place was only a camp, there was no scaffolding, and no permanent structure.

It was also said she had ordered the piano painted, but this work was not begun until after her departure.

DIDN'T WRITE LETTERS

At the testimony of George Adams, who said he had peeked through a keyhole and had seen Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais together, Mrs. Stillman said Adams' statements were true, but that she had been uncertain through which he could have peeked. She added that Adams and Beauvais slept together in the kitchen at night when she occupied the only bedroom in the house.

"To the best of my knowledge there never was any letter at any time in my apartment," Mrs. Stillman said. Miss Hibbard, who completed her testimony before the referee, took up the stand, said under cross-examination that she had not seen the letter until they were shown her by Col. Rand before the trial starting.

Mrs. Stillman then declared that never at any time had she been guilty of "holding any kind of Beauvais in unworthy conduct" with Beauvais.

Referring to the plain gold ring which Mrs. Beauvais had given her, she admitted the ring existed, and held it up.

"This ring was given to me by Beauvais," she said. "I prized it so lightly that I gave it to my son Bud."

MRS. STILLMAN ARRIVES

NEW YORK, May 10.—Mrs. Stillman returned to the Olympic today from Paris, where she has been attending school. She declined to discuss her trip, but said that she would divide her vacation between James A. Stillman, her father, and Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, her mother.

She was not thinking of any plan to call her as a court witness in her mother's behalf.

"Bud" was at the pier to see his sister. She seemed greatly affected over the death of Henry F. Davison, at whom her hand was clutching the back of her chair on her last visit to the United States. Miss Stillman traveled with a party of friends.

FLASHESKID COMEDIES*JOHNNY JONES MAKES PAINLESS FUN STORIES*By Grace Klapley

If every youngster in the country doesn't become a good business man, while he is also being highly entertained, it isn't going to be the fault of the J. K. McDonald Pictures, Inc., of Los Angeles, which at the Hollywood studios has been making kid pictures for a few months now under direction of George M. Lazarus, who is the author of Booth Tarkington's "Edgar" stories for Goldwyn.

Johnny Jones, star of the McDonald pictures, is a boy who with his mother, Shirley, is little Gertie Messenger, in "Remember the Bells" in "Frankie and Johnny" and pictures three years ago.

Gertie is only 8 years old now, and she is a real star. Shirley is a brilliant youngster, and is a great aid to Johnny in putting over the kid stuff.

McDonald's announcement of the McDonald people, a series of twelve two-reel juvenile pictures featuring Johnny Jones are to be made at the studio, will support some certain business enterprise inaugurated by Johnny Jones and carried out by his gang, and will include a series of special talents and inherent business acumen possessed by the average wide-awake American boy. This is all to be done with the aid of the lessons taught him, perhaps.

Indeed, judging from "Supply and Demand," the first of the kid pictures to be made at the studio, viewed at the California Theater, Venice, the other night, the pictures should be a success. Older folk will be interested to note that the pictures chucked gaily over the child here's efforts to build up a demand for the child's picture of mouse-trap. Of course, he did not succeed.

Johnny Jones is destined to be the little young "Broadway Jones" of the future.

The next picture to be released will be "Rented—A Haunted House," and will show how Johnny's gang after getting into a perfectly good dwelling house, so that they would own it, if it proceeded to get haunted by a ghost.

Bedtime story.

Miss Ida Jones, violinist.

Marguerite Bitter, pianist.

Heinz Lotteiprich, pianist.

These names meant much to The Times Radio Station audience yesterday when ethereal melodies wafted over Electra's magic wand, wafted to the imagination of thousands of music lovers who tuned in on KHZ.

A burned-out microphone cut short the music program after the start of Mr. Thayer's songs. His wife and the violinist were given short shrift Saturday in the noon program. He was accompanied by Miss Marguerite Bitter, who also sang a piano solo at KHZ.

Neil Lockwood, soloist for the past two weeks, sang Chorus accompanied by Miss Gale, opened the evening concert with "Dances," by Hawley. The tenor her best, sang the title number in "Susanna and Rose," by Blumenthal, and "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Lurie. Miss Gale sang a violin solo to this number.

Miss Stanley played an andante movement of Mendelssohn's violin concerto.

Reappearing on The Times program by request, Corinne Harris, soprano, sang "The Moon and Love's in Her Heart."

Woodman. Her effective interpretation was marked by dramatic beauty.

Mrs. Bowes accompanied Miss Harris.

His clear, powerful dramatic tenor was well represented by Selwyn L. Harris broadcast "Carrie Eve," by Handel; "The Swan," by Gounod; "The Bitterness of Love," by Duruflé, and a aria from "Lohengrin," by Wagner.
